INTRODUCTION.

Genealogical - 5.00

THERE are no ancient books of registers in the custody of the vicar of Llanbadog.

The register here printed is from a copy, preserved in the Public Library at Cardiff, which was made in the year 1839 by Lady Phillipps, the wife of Sir Thomas Phillipps of Middle Hill, baronet, the famous collector. It is stated at the head that the original then (1839) was in the possession of Dr. Reece of Cardiff.

Dr. Richard Reece, son of Richard Reece of Usk, was for many years a medical man practising at Cardiff, of which town he was mayor in the year 1846. He was a fellow of the society of Antiquaries and much interested in genealogy and kindred subjects. It is probable that he borrowed the register from the vicar of Llanbadog and failed to return it, as it cannot now be found. He died in the year 1850, and his descendants still live at Cardiff.

The transcript appears to be accurate, and in places has been corrected by Sir Thomas Phillipps himself.

The parish of Llanbadog, which lies adjoining to the town of Usk on the western side of the river Usk, is a typically rural one in which there have been no changes for centuries. There have never been any manufactories or industries, agriculture being the sole occupation.

There was, and still is, one water-mill called the Prioress mill, formerly belonging to the priory of nuns in Usk. The farm of the Rhadyr was part of the possessions of Tintern abbey, and, with other lands, was granted to Charles Somerset, 1st earl of Worcester, and so descended to the present duke of Beaufort. It is now an agricultural college belonging to the county council.

The other chief landowners were the family of Wolf of the Prysgoed, who in some branches became, after the Welsh fashion, Morgan; Bennet of Cil-Feigan, of whom some became Williams; and Williams of Cefn-Ila, a branch of the family of that name at Llangibby castle.

The trades which are noted in this book are the ones usual in a country parish :—

Weaver occurs once in English as wever (p. 4), once as weaver (p. 8), and elsewhere in its Welsh form Gweydd (pp. 20, 21, 22).

Blacksmith once in Welsh, Y gŏf (p. 21), Latin Ferrarius (p. 9).

Farmer, agricola (p. 30).

Miller, molitor (pp. 10, 11, 12), in English (pp. 2, 3).

Tiler, tegularius (p. 11).

Carpenter, faber lignarius (p. 29).

Quarryman, latomus (p. 31).

Shopkeeper, mercator (p. 11).

Tailor, sartor (pp. 10, 11), once in English (p. 27).

Harper, fidicen (p. 11, 30).

Pedlar, circuitor (p. 29).

Shoemaker (p. 28).

Labourer, once in English as labrer (p. 1), elsewhere as operarius (pp. 10, 11, 15, 30).

Schoolmaster, as colmaster (p. 21).

Twice only are personal ailments used as a name, when in 1604 Joan alias Goch (red) (p. 22), and in 1629 Jeonet John alias Gloff (lame) (p. 24) are buried.

The town of Usk appears under its classical name of Burrium (pp. 12, 13), in the entry made by himself of Dr. Reece's own birth; and Newport as Novus Burgus (p. 24).

The above introduction was in type, and the proofs of the whole of the register had undergone a final correction and was about to be printed off, when it came to my knowledge that the original book was in the possession of the University College of South Wales at Cardiff. With other books and manuscripts formerly belonging to Dr. Reece it had been presented to the college by Mr. Mullins of Cardiff, who had purchased them from the executors of the Reece family.

Through the courtesy of the council of the college I have been enabled to carefully collate my proofs with the original, and to print what I hope is a correct copy.

The original book, measuring 14 inches by 6 inches, was bound under the direction of Sir Thomas Phillipps, a letter from whom to Dr. Reece is attached, dated The Athenæum, 22 July 1840, in which he says that the binder had destroyed the old cover, which Sir Thomas had numbered 1 and 2, and had also lost pp. 61, 62, which had been blank.

It must be noted that in many cases the Christian names do not appear exactly as in the original, e.g., W^{m} often takes the place of William, Jo^{n} of John, and vice versâ. The form given here is as in the transcript.

1 Walter Wolf was of the Prysgoed (coppice wood) in this parish in right of his wife Alice, daughter and heir of William ap John Morgan. The family of Wolf was a very ancient one, long seated at Wolvesnewton (recte Wolf's Newton). A pedigree will be found in Lewis Dwnn's Heraldic Visitations of Wales, vol. i., pp. 11—14.

2 It must be remembered tnat at this period few Welsh families had a fixed surname. The father's christian name was used in the place of a surname, and so Morgan is called Morgan John or Morgan ap John, his father being John ap Richard. In many cases a man would be called not oniy by his father's christian name but his grandfather's also would be added; thus Morgan John might also appear as Morgan John Richard.

3 The family of Benett were seated at Cil-Feigan (the retreat of Meigan), descended from a Norman Sir Benet, lord of Cil-Feigan, soon after the conquest. This Edward Benett sometimes appears as Edward Reinallt or Reynolds, his father having been Reinallt ap William Benet. The descendants of his brother William eventually dropped into the surname of Williams.

4 Sir Morgan Giles was not a knight but a cleric, who at this period often had the title of Sir. He figures in a deed dated 22 Nov., 25 Eliz. [1582], as Sir Morgan Giles, late of the town of Usk, clerk, brother of John Giles of Usk, turner, their father Giles James being then dead.

5 Jein, often written Jane, Jeyn, Jayne, etc., is a softened form of Jenkin.
